Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore wedge-shaped cross section, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Applicant stated that claim 9 has been relabeled Figure A & B and claim 8 was canceled. However, it appears applicant meant claim 9 was canceled and figure 8 was replaced by Figures 8A and 8B which were previously shown side by side as figure 9.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

It is still unclear how the frame is being rotated or reciprocated despite applicant's remarks. For instance if applicant intends for figures 8A & 8B to rotate, it is unclear of how it could be done. In these figures, the frame and arms appear to support the entire container, which would make it unlikely that it would rotate without rollers or something else not described. If applicant does not intend for the device to rotate in certain figures then it needs to be explained more fully how and in which situations the device is rotating without adding new matter.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 11-14,17,20-25, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rebucci (US 4,150,701).

Re claim 11, Rebucci teaches an output device for a container (generally 60,90) which comprises a bottom (generally 40) and a surrounding wall, comprising a hub (80) and at least two arms (82,84) fixed to the hub (80), characterized in that each arm is designed with

- at least one outer section designed and arranged to at use being capable of essentially preventing material from being brought towards the wall of the container, and
- at least one inner section connected to the outer section, designed and arranged to at use being capable of bringing the material essentially in the direction of feed for the device, at which the at least two arms present essentially concave surfaces facing the direction of feed; the arms (82,84) extend essentially (to the wall of the container (generally 60,90); the container bottom having at least one principally gap-shaped discharge opening (generally 42) located between the hub and the outer ends of the arms.

Re claim 12, Rebucci teaches each arm (82,84) is continuously bent (stays bent and is bent along length).

Re claims 13,20, Rebucci teaches the arms designed with a wedge-shaped cross section, where the wedge-shape tapers (see figure 3) contrary to the direction of feed.

Re claims 14,21,23, Rebucci teaches a frame (generally 90 or 40) arranged adjacent to the outer ends of the arms.

Re claims 17,22,24,25, Rebucci teaches a driving device capable of driving the arms with a rotating movement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 15,16,26,27, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rebucci (US 4,150,701).

Re claim 15, Rebucci does not state whether the frame (generally 90 or 40) is fixed to the arms but it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Rebucci to have the frame fixed to the arms in order to avoid rubbing the arms against the frame as the arms rotate and in order to fix the frame to avoid it getting out of place.

Re claim 16, Rebucci does not state whether the frame (generally 90 or 40) is fixed to the container but it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Rebucci to have the frame fixed to the container in order to avoid rubbing the container against the frame as the arms rotate and in order to fix the frame to avoid it getting out of place.

Re claims 26,27, Rebucci teaches a driving device capable of driving the arms with a rotating movement.

Claims 18,19, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rebucci (US 4,150,701) in view of Cantenot (US 4,099,633).

Re claims 18,19, Rebucci does not teach a driving device capable of driving the device with a reciprocating movement. Cantenot teaches a driving device capable of driving the device with a reciprocating movement in order to sweep effectively (column 1). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Rebucci by the general teaching of Cantenot to have a driving device capable of driving the device with a reciprocating movement in order to sweep effectively.

Conclusion

Applicant's arguments filed 1/10/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that the cited prior art does not teach a gap-shaped discharge opening, however Rebucci teaches a gap-shaped discharge opening (generally 42).

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
